

Abstract of the Disclosure

Peptides having specific patterns of acidic and aromatic amino acids which inhibit viral infections are described. The peptides contain 15-18 amino acids and may be administered as such, in combination with additional antiviral agents and/or in the form of nucleotide sequences encoding them.

5